Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on June 25, 2002.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, June 25, 2002.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

22. VESPASIAN; 69-79 AD, Aureus, Rome, 72-3 AD, 7.20g., BM-68, Paris-52, C-273 (40 Fr.). Obv: IMP CAES VESP AVG P M COS IIII Head laureate r. Rx: NEP RED Neptune standing l., r. foot set on globe, holding acrostolium and scepter. This type of "Neptune the Returner" refers to the sea voyages of Vespasian and Titus from the East to Rome in 70 and 71 AD respectively. About EF/VF.....4500
23. VESPASIAN; 69-79 AD, Aureus, mule with Titus reverse die, Rome, 76 AD, 7.22g., BM-132 (pl. 3.20, same dies, misdated to 74 AD), C-107 corr. (Caylus, 45 Fr.), RIC-71 var. Obv: IMP CAESAR VESPASIANVS AVG Head laureate left. Rx: COS V Heifer standing r. "The heifer is unquestionably the famous statue of Myron which had been placed by Augustus in the 'Porticus Apollonis' and was transferred by Vespasian to the temple of Peace" (BMC, p. xxxviii). BMC and RIC erroneously date this coin to 74 AD, not realizing that it is in fact a mule of 76 AD struck from a COS V reverse die of Titus instead of a proper COS VII die of Vespasian. The COS V Heifer type seems out of place for Vespasian in 74, firstly because there is no corresponding COS III Heifer type of Titus, although all other aureus and denarius reverse types of 74, namely FORTVNA AVGVST, VESTA Temple, Emperor Seated on Curule Chair, Winged Caduceus, and Two Laurel Branches, were shared by both emperors. Secondly, if Vespasian's COS V Heifer type indeed belonged to 74, then the same type would have been repeated two years later with the titles COS VII for Vespasian and COS V for Titus, but such a repetition of an unusual type after an intermission never occurs in the rest of Vespasian's precious metal coinage. Mattingly, BMC p. xxxix, was quite right to remark that the Heifer type, though he believed it first occurred in 74, was "really distinctive" of the year 76! The particular proofs that our aureus belongs to 76 not 74 are (1) that the same reverse die was also used to strike aurei of Titus with obverse either T CAESAR IMP VESPASIAN Head right (Lanz Munich 28 1984 lot 469) or T CAESAR IMP VESPASIANVS Head left (Glasgow 18 pl. 40; Lanz Munich 78 1996 lot 567). These coins cannot be mules of Titus struck in 74 with a reverse die of Vespasian, since the longer form of Titus' obverse legend ending VESPASIANVS not VESPASIAN was not introduced until 76 and is unattested on any coin of 74! The possibility cannot be excluded, however, that a reverse die of Vespasian in 74 was preserved and reused for Titus in 76. (2) The left-facing portrait of our aureus strongly suggests a date of 76 not 74, for left-facing portraits are otherwise quite unknown on Vespasian's gold and silver coinage of 74, but are relatively common on his aurei and denarii of 76, including his Heifer aurei with the correct date COS VII. It is true that the COS V Heifer type also occurs on an aureus of Vespasian with his head right on obverse, but that coin too will be a mule: NAC M, 2002, lot 2652, is the only specimen known to C. Clay, and its reverse die, different from that on our coin, is also attested on aurei of Titus with obverse legend ending VESPASIAN and head facing right, from two different obverse dies: Jameson Collection pl. IV, 71, and Sotheby 1972, Metropolitan Museum, lot 273. The denarii of Vespasian with the COS V Heifer type reported by Cohen 106 and 108 seem to be nothing but plated ancient forgeries, Paris pl. XXXIX, 401-2, two specimens from the same die pair. The clinching evidence that the COS V Heifer aurei of Vespasian were not struck in 74 but are mules struck from reverse dies of Titus in 76, was pointed out to me by Ian Carradice after I had sent him the above remarks: the same portrait-left obverse die of our aureus is also known in combination with Vespasian's proper COS VII Heifer type of 76, Santamaria 1910 Hartwig lot 1178 = M&M XV 1955 lot 736! Our aureus is thus very rare and of considerable specialist interest: mint mules of the early and middle Roman empire, rare enough in bronze and silver, almost never occur in gold (by Curtis Clay). 25. CLAUDIUS II; 268-270 AD, Eight Aureus Gold Medallion, Milan, 39.27g., Very rare, less than 30 recorded. Gnechi I, p.9,1, pl.3.8. From the Corsica shipwreck find 1958. Obv: IMP C M AVRL (sic) CLAVDIVS P F AVG, Bust laureate cuirassed r., seen from front, large aegis with Medusa head and snakes on l. shoulder, scene of emperor on horseback r. attacking barbarians on breast of cuirass, Rx: CONCORDIA EXERCITVS ("The harmony of the Army") Concordia standing l., head r., holding two standards topped by cloth squares like vexilla and by eagles. An eight-aureus medallion is a rarity for the Roman series and normally no more than two or three examples of any one type ever exist. As such, they tend to be priced at $200,000 and up. Since this is relatively common with somewhat less than 75 examples in existence the price is extremely moderate. This is the only large Roman gold medallion that is ever available below the six figure level. About VF/VF.....24500

Constantine V, the son of Leo III the Isaurian, was defeated in battle by his brother-in-law Artavasdus in 742. Artavasdus was a staunch champion of images, and his entry into Constantinople was greeted with elation by the Iconodules. This triumph was short-lived however, as Constantine regained the capital the following year and intensified his father's attack on icons and their adherents. Very rare; around 45 recorded. Obv: Portrait of Theophilus. Rx: Portrait of child Constantine. Extremely Rare: only three recorded specimens. This issue which portrays Constantine the Infant, son of Theophilus, is the rarest portrait of the Byzantine series. Its rarity has been obscured by a misleading footnote in DO. The fact is that until the 1960s neither DO nor the BN owned an example of this issue and the specimens they then acquired both came from the same hoard which otherwise only contained coins of Theophilus of Syracuse. 64.	BASIL I ; 867-886 AD, Solidus, Constantinople, New Year's, 868 AD, 4.48g., S-1702, DO-1. Less than six recorded. Ex Hunt 1990 #677 $39,600, ex Sotheby 1998 #468 $23,100. This coin was issued for the New Year's Day festivities of 868 AD. The obverse type is highly unusual for the series and only five coins are recorded for this type of which this is the finest. One reason for this issue's rarity is the relative poverty in which Basil found himself after Michael III's death. The treasury contained only 300 pounds of gold, collected by melting down the gold ornaments of Theophilus' throne room in the palace, and nine sacks of miliaresia. Obv: Diademed head of Philip VI Andrisus r., with slight beard. Rx: Nude Herakles standing l., holding rhyton in r. hand, club in l., lion skin hanging on l. arm. Overstruck on a double victoriat of the Thessalian League, the head of Athena from the undertype is visible (upside down) at the bottom of the reverse. This remarkable type was entirely unknown until 1999, when the type first appeared in Lanz 92. The present piece is the third known, and certainly the finest. It differs from the others in interesting ways. The previous two pieces were overstruck, from the same dies, on Republican denarii, whereas the present coin was overstruck, from different dies than the others, on a somewhat heavier double victoriat of the Thessalian League. The dies are doubtless products of the same hand, but are not identical; the obverse of our coin features well-drawn hair, including a single curl emerging from the hair at the nape of Andrisus' neck. On the previously known reverse die, the rhyton in Herakles' hand crosses the

- legend, breaking it into two parts; on the present coin, the rhyton touches the legend, but doesn't break its line. Andriscus claimed to be the son of Perseus and Laodice, and the portrait on both known obverse dies bears a strong resemblance to that on the tetradrachms of Perseus. Andriscus in fact seems to have been from Adramyttium in the Troad, and probably was unrelated to the Macedonian royal line. His claim was accepted however by at least a portion of the population, restless under the increasingly onerous Roman regime. Andriscus initially met with surprising military success, and defeated a small army sent from Rome. He was crushed however by a substantial force led by the Roman general Q. Caecilius Metellus, a veteran of Aemilius Paullus' Macedonian campaign. Andriscus was captured, adorned the triumph of Metellus, and was eventually executed. Now that this great rarity is established, most collectors of Greek and Hellenistic coins as well as collectors of the Roman Republican period need this coin. But only three exist and this is the finest known in every way. Choice EF .....36000

- The next four coins lot 168-171 are a wonderful collection of the late Archaic and early Classical staters of Thasos. While they are similar they are distinctly different from each other in small but significant ways. On #168 the meanad wears bracelets and the satyr has a long flowing beard and long flowing hair. On #169 the meanad has braided hair. On #170 the meanad is wearing a very detailed dress and the chest of the satyr is facing the viewer rather than being in profile. On #171 the meanad is now a girl and the satyr no longer has horse's hooves as he does on the first three coins in this set.
168. THRACE, THASOS; Stater, 470 BC, 8.51g., Svoronos Pl. 10,14, NFA 16 12/85 #107 (same dies). Obv: Naked ithyphallic saytr with horse's hooves and ears carries off a meanad wearing a sleeved chiton, her r. arm raised. Bracelets adorn both of her arms. 205. ZACYNTHUS; Drachm or one-third stater, 500 BC, 3.50g., NC 1885, Pl. 3, #1, SNG Rosen-232. Obv: Tripod; between legs, dot to l., crescent to r. Rx: Incuse square, divided into six irregular triangles. Zacynthus is an important island in the Ionian Sea, about ten miles off the coast of Elis. Homer mentions it frequently. Its one city bore the same name as the island. The present archaic coin was discussed in Numismatic Chronicle, 1885, where it was described as "apparently unique." We know of no examples beyond that coin, the Rosen specimen, and the coin offered here. Extremely rare; possibly the third known specimen. All Greek island coins are rare. In that this coin bears a tripod which is usually the symbol of the games and as the island of Zycanthus is off the coast of Elis, it is certainly possible that this coin was issued in conjunction with the Olympic Games, though admittedly this theory is absolutely unproven. Though this coin is accepted as an issue of Zacynthus there are some who feel it could be a Macedonian issue, but they are probably incorrect. Tripod in high relief. VF.....2200
206. BITHYNIA, CALCHEDON; Tetradrachm, 3rd-2nd Cent. BC, 15.58g., Rec. gen. 22 (only two spec.), pl. XLVI, 12 (same dies). Types of Lysimachus: Head of deified Alexander the Great with horn of Ammon/ Athena seated, but with the mint name "Calchedon" on Rx (literally "Of the Calchedonians") instead of Lysimachus' name. Extremely rare. Waddington's corpus of Asia Minor coins (1908) records only two specimens, in Vienna and the De Luynes collection (now Paris), and the illustrated De Luynes coin is from the same dies as ours. None in Berk photo file. This excessively rare coin follows the traditionally types of Lysimachus but was remarkably issued by the city of Calchedon as a civic issue. A highly unusual political statement for Hellenistic times. Less than ten recorded. EF/VF.....4500

Crawford argues in RRC and elsewhere that all plated Republican coins are ancient counterfeits, but leaves open the possibility that a minority of them may have been struck from official dies. The relatively high relief and good detail exhibited by the reverse of the present coin would seem to argue in favor of it being an "after hours" product of the Mint of Rome, and against it's having been struck elsewhere from dies mechanically copied from a genuine coin. 277.	A. PLAUTIUS; Denarius, Rome, 55 BC, 3.65g., Syd-932, Cr-431/1, Plautia-13. Obv: Turreted head of Cybele r. Rx: Bacchius (Aristobulus?) kneels r, camel at side, extending olive branch. "Baccius" is unknown to history, and the identity of the kneeling figure on the reverse has been subject to considerable controversy. The scene evidently refers to the submission of Aristobulus the High Priest to Pompey; the alternative explanation, that Baccius refers to Dionysus of Tripoli (mentioned in Josephus), derives solely from the similarity between the Greek Dionysus and the Latin Bacchus, and seems implausible at best. 291. AUGUSTUS; 27 BC-14 AD, Denarius, Lugdunum, 8 BC, 3.84g., Unpublished as denarius with portrait left. Obv: AVGVST[VS] DIVI F Head laureate left. Rx: C CAES AVGVVS F Gaius Caesar galloping r., wearing bulla around neck, holding sword and shield, legionary eagle and two standards behind him. This type occurs predominantly with a right-facing portrait on the obverse, but a few aurei with portrait left are known: Cohen 41 citing the coin dealer Rollin, Bahrfeldt Goldmuenzenpraegung 234 citing Milan, and Giard Lyon 70 citing Milan, a private collection, and ANS. Our coin, the first recorded denarius of this variant, is from the same obverse die as the aurei in Milan and the private collection, Giard pl. XIX, 70/1a-b. Unique in silver, and providing an interesting die link between the two metals. In 8 BC Augustus introduced his twelve-year-old grandson and adopted son Gaius Caesar to the Roman army in Gaul. The bulla around Gaius' neck signifies that he was still a child and had not yet assumed the toga of manhood (J. Pollini, Gaius Caesar on horseback, Mus. Notes 30, 1985). VF .....2500

Obv: Diademed head of Constantine r., without legend. Rx: D N CONSTANTINVS / MAX TRIVMF AVG Constantinoplis seated r., head front, holding cornucopia, l. foot on ship, MCONSΘ in exergue. Extremely rare, apparently only the ninth specimen known, and the first attested from officina Theta=9; see the list of previously known specimens in Berk Catalog 100 1998 lot 684. Remarkable for its anepigraphic obverse and the title Triumfator, "the Triumphant", accorded to Constantine by the reverse legend. These Constantinopolis medallions and the two recently discovered parallel pieces depicting Roma are the only silver medallions of this size and thickness known from Constantine's reign. This medallion was given out by or in the presence of Constantine the Great at the foundation ceremony of the city of Constantinople on May 11, 330 AD. The event that this medallion commemorates and was part of is one of the crucial events in world history of the last 3000 years. It established a new capital for the Roman empire at Constantinople and rededicated the empire to Christianity rather than Roman paganism. Even though this is the lowest grade of these medallions that we have handled its stunning importance cannot be overestimated. Fine.....25000

455. CONSTANTINE XI; 1448-1453 AD, Stavrata, Constantinople, 6.34g., The coinage of Constantine XI, Revue Numismatique 1991 #96 (this coin). The coinage of Constantine XI was entirely unknown before 1974. A small group of 90 coins accounting for all but two of the total population was published by Simon Bendall in "The Coinage of Constantine XI". Harlan Berk disagreed with one of Simon's assumptions that stavrata were only coronation coins. Simon now agrees with us that the stavrata like this lot were siege coins like the smaller denominations and were minted from silver in the church to pay the workmen to rebuild the walls that the Ottoman cannon destroyed each day. (These guns was made by a Christian maker whom Constantine XI could not pay so he went to the other side.) These amazingly historic coins were truly part of one of history's great turning points. We handled the bulk of this hoard and sold most of them to private collectors. As a result they appear infrequently. This one is the only one we have in stock. As struck .....15000

556. TRAJAN; 98-117 AD, Sestertius, Rome, 101-2 AD, 21.71g., Unpublished. Obv: IMP CAES NERVA TRAIAN AVG GERM P M Head laureate r., folds of cloak on both shoulders, dotted strap across r. shoulder, globe at tip of truncation. Rx: TR POT COS IIII P P S C Roma seated l. on cuirass and shields, setting r. foot on helmet, holding Victory in r. hand, resting l. arm on shield and holding grip of her sword by her waist with l. hand. Remarkable types on both sides. A unique sestertius of the same issue in Paris, with the reverse type of Trajan receiving globe from the personified Senate, also has a globe under the obverse bust and probably also a strap over right shoulder like our coin, though this detail has gone unrecognized: see BMC pl. 26.10. Otherwise the globe is a very rare adjunct to Trajan's bust on coins (see BMC pl.17.16, 20.7, and 36.11), and a strap perhaps only occurs on a rare bust left sesterius die (Strack pl. V, 374) and on rare denarii late in the reign in connection with the aegis (BMC pl. 19.6; Strack pl. V, 357 looks tooled). The Roma Victrix reverse type of our coin is otherwise quite unknown in Trajan's issue of 101-2 AD; a similar type had occurred on a unique medallion sestertius in 98-9 AD (Gnechchi III, pl. 143.8, without S C), and another variant of the type reappeared on normal sestertii of 103-11 AD, BMC pl. 28.4. Extremely rare. Apple-green patination, EF ..... 3750
557. ANTONINUS PIUS; 138-161 AD, As, Rome, 154 AD, 10.86g., BM-1951, C-45. Obv: ANTONINVS AVG PIVS P P TR P XVII Head laureate r. Rx: ANNONA AVG COS IIII S C Annona standing r., resting r. hand on modius set on base, holding branch in l. hand over basket of fruit on ground. Interesting Annona type which appears only on asses of Pius as TR P XVI and XVII. The branch and basket of fruit are not usual attributes of Annona, although the latter is approximately the equivalent of a cornucopia which of course she often carries. The branch is a vine branch alluding to grape harvests according to Mattingly (BMC p. xc), whereas Strack thinks it is the olive branch of Pax referring to a victory in Africa which has assured Rome's supply of grain from that province (Untersuchungen III, p. 59). 558. CARACALLA; 198-217 AD, Medallion framed sestertius with contorniate groove around edges, Rome, 213 AD, 32.49g., Types as BM-253 and C-236 (60 Fr.). Obv: M AVREL ANTONINVS AVG PIVS BRIT Bust laureate, cuirassed r. Rx: P M TR P XVI IMP II COS IIII P P S C Circus Maximus, showing front wall with large entrance arch and eleven smaller arches; back wall with spectators, temple with altar before it, and top of arch surmounted by statues on r.; r. end wall topped by starter's lodge and statues; triumphal arch surmounted by statue of emperor in quadriga at l. end; spina with turning posts at ends, obelisk in middle, plus apparatus with dolphins for numbering laps and statue atop column; finally in the arena at right, as though just emerging from the starting gates, three racing chariots. Rare Circus sestertius of Caracalla, transformed into a medallion by the addition of a compact frame with contorniate groove and additional border of dots around the edge on both sides. The frame, as can be seen at a spot on its edge where the patina is missing, is of red copper, so must be a separate piece of metal attached to the sestertius flan, which is itself of yellow brass like normal sestertii. Our coin was probably distributed as a New Year's present on 1 January 213 AD, in place of the normal bronze medallions whose production had been virtually halted by Septimius Severus in 196 and was only effectively resumed by Severus Alexander. Several other "medallion" sestertii of this same issue are known: a Circus sestertius weighing 44 grams in Paris, on which the S C on reverse has been removed by modern tooling (Gnechchi III pl.152.10, mentioned by Cohen on p. 168, note 3); another weighing 32.29 grams in NAC/Spink Taisei, Steinberg collection, lot 605, ex Trau collection; and finally two bimetallic specimens of the Consular Quadriga sestertius of the same issue, Steinberg collection lot 604 (31.26 g.) and Mazzini 233 (33.10 g.). Our coin is from the same dies as the normal sestertius Hess/Leu sale, April 1958, lot 360, and from the same reverse die as the normal sestertius Glendining 1950, Hall, lot 1720, also illustrated in BMC pl. 75.4 (reverse only). Extremely rare. Only the third recorded specimen with the others in museums. VF ..... 12500

692. SUMERIAN, CLAY NAIL OF GUDEA, Clay, Neo-Sumerian, 2190-2000 B.C. Clay Nail of Gudea, Governor of Lagash ca. 2120 B.C. Dedicatory inscriptions by rulers of the Neo-Sumerian ..... period (2190-2000 B.C.) commemorating the construction of a building are commonly written on clay in the form of thick cones, or "nails" (i.e., cones with a mushroom-like head). These were produced in great quantity with the identical inscriptions, and were embedded in the wall of the new building. ....In his numerous .....inscriptions Gudea, governor of the city-state Lagash, related the many pious building projects he carried out and dedicated to the divinities of the city. The building of the Eninnu, the temple of Ningirsu, seems tohave been the great project of his reign. Two hymns each written on a large clay cylinder recount different stages of its construction. Written in Sumerian language.
